

Do you have the right protection... ...to survive a malpractice lawsuit?

Unless you have the right malpractice coverage, you're putting your career, your family and your future at risk

All it takes is one lawsuit, and counting solely on your employer-provided coverage may not provide all the protection you need. With malpractice insurance offered through HPSO, your interests come first above all others. You are protected 24/7, on-or-off the job. Protect yourself now with coverage through HPSO.

Professional liability limits up to $3 million aggregate, up to $1 million each claim for as low as $89 a year for a full-time employed medical imaging professional. Plus you get these additional coverages, up to the applicable limits of liability— at no extra cost!

MTECH Labs Offers Shim Power Supply Controllers

MTECH Laboratories LLC's shim power supply controllers are stable current sources for a variety of nuclear magnetic resonance/MRI applications where stable fields are required. The B1-1S model is a single-channel power controller stable to 10 parts per million. It has a compliance voltage of up to 12 volts and a maximum output current of 1 amp (higher currents are available). The controller can be wired as a current source or sink. The shim controllers can be configured for a number of channels. Each channel features a manual current adjustment, on-off switch, and polarity switch. Current can be adjusted by a 10-turn front panel potentiometer or by an analog signal (0 to 10 volts) for remote computer control. The controllers require a direct current power supply, which is available separately.
